

A Beautiful House

1 Kings 5; 6; 7:13-51; Prophets and Kings, pp. 35, 36

Come, daughter," said Vimala's mother. "We will go to see one of the most beautiful buildings in India, the Taj Mahal."

The Taj Mahal is beautiful! However, not as beautiful as the house Solomon built for God.

King Solomon sent for a servant. "It's time to begin building God's house," he announced. I've given a lot of thought to this great project. And now it's time to start!"

All the Israelites knew about this wonderful plan. King David, Solomon's father, had wanted to build a special house for God. But God had told him no. David's son, the next king, would build the Temple. Now King David was dead, and Solomon had been the king of Israel for four years. And he was finally ready to begin building the Temple!

"I want to send a letter to Hiram, the king of Tyre," Solomon said. He paced up and down the room.

Finally he began to say what he wanted to write to Hiram. "You were a great friend of my father, David," Solomon began. "He was not able to build a Temple to honor the Lord as he wanted to. Now I am to do it.

"Please cut tall cedar trees from your mountains for me. I will send men to help your servants with the work. And I will pay you whatever you ask." King Hiram was pleased to receive Solomon's letter. He sent word that he would, indeed, provide lumber for the Temple. And he promised to send Hiram-Abi, a great artist, to help Solomon's building site. This was one way the workers showed reverence for the Lord.

Solomon's Temple was probably the most beautiful building ever built on the earth at the time. On the inside, the stone walls were completely covered with wood. The wood was decorated with carvings of angels, palm trees, and flowers. Then it was completely covered with gold! Even the floor and the ceiling were covered in gold!

Artists carved two great angels from olive wood. They overlaid the angels with gold too.

The angels were placed in the Most Holy Place, where the ark of God would rest. Their lovely wings stretched across the whole room.

All the furniture of the Temple was beautiful and carefully made. The Israelites wanted to honor the Lord in the very best way. “Who can really build the Lord a worthy home?” Solomon asked. “Not even the highest heavens can contain Him!”

Building and taking care of a church are acts of worship for us just as they were when Solomon built God's beautiful Temple. And the things we do and say inside our church are also to be acts of worship.

workers. Hiram-Abi knew how to work with gold and silver, and bronze and wood. He knew all about stonework and carpentry. He also could teach about weaving and dyeing beautiful fabrics.

It took thousands of people to work on the huge Temple project. King Solomon sent 30,000 men to King Hiram to help cut down trees and bring them home. Eighty thousand other men cut beautiful stone out of the mountainsides and shaped it into blocks. When taken to the Temple, the blocks fit together like pieces of a puzzle. There was no sound of hammers, or axes, or any iron tools at the

READ For worship today, read 1 Kings 6:2, 14-17. Go to a nearby field or parking lot and measure a space the length of the Temple. Remember, a cubit is about 18 inches (46 centimeters) long. Mark off the length of the Most Holy Place (20 cubits) and the main hall (40 cubits). Compare the Temple's size to your church. Which is bigger?

PRAY Thank God for your church. Tell Him what it means to you and your family.

King David prepared materials for the Temple before he died. His gift to the Temple was enough to build 2,500 houses.
