

Crossing the Runaway River

Joshua 3; 4; 5:1; Patriarchs and Prophets, pp. 481-486

How do you feel when you wake up on a day when you know something exciting is going to happen? What if it's something you've never done before? Let's imagine how an Israelite boy may have experienced a very exciting day.

Joshua had told the people of Israel that today would be the day. Today the Lord would do something amazing.

What would it be? God had done amazing things for the Israelites. God had parted the Israelite army, and they had defeated those two kings, Sihon and Og.

Yes, God had done some amazing things. But those things had all happened when Moses had been leading. Moses was dead now, and Joshua was their new leader. Was Joshua as good a leader as Moses? Would God still do amazing things for the Israelites?

It had rained a lot lately, and the days were getting warmer. The melting snow in the mountains raced toward the river. The Jordan River was a muddy, angry torrent, high over its banks. Canaan, the Promised Land, was on the other side of it, and they'd been camped here for three days.

Joshua began instructing the Israelites. "The ark of the covenant will go into the Jordan ahead of you," he was saying. "You are to move out from your positions and follow it.

"As soon as the priests who carry the ark of the Lord set foot in the Jordan, its waters flowing downstream

Red Sea and led the people out of Egypt. He had provided manna every day that they were in the wilderness. It was amazing! Food every day without fail!

And then, not long ago, God led the will be cut off and stand up like a wall," Joshua continued. "The priests will remain in the middle of the river while the entire Israelite camp crosses. Break camp now and get ready."

The Message

God gives us leaders to help us do great things for Him.

Memory Verse

“The LORD will do amazing things among you”

(Joshua 3:5).

Soon the order to line up was given.

Up ahead the priests were carrying the ark of the covenant. Moving forward, they were leading the entire Israelite camp straight toward the rushing, roaring river. The priests didn't hesitate for a moment as they stepped right into the rapids. As soon as their feet touched the water, it stopped. The water came to a complete halt, piling up, just as Joshua had said it would. The water downstream of the priests kept flowing away from them. In a matter of seconds the water had disappeared around a bend. The priests moved to the middle of the river. A great shout went up from the Israelites. The line of people moved quickly to the riverbank. They began to pick their way across the rocky riverbed and up the other side.

The priests still stood in the middle of the riverbed, still holding the ark high. Finally the last of the Israelites stepped into the Promised Land. Then the priests crossed.

The instant the last priest cleared the banks, the waters broke loose. With a fearsome thunder they resumed their mighty journey.

It was over. As easily as that, their long journey was over. There was no doubt that God was with Joshua just as He was with Moses. And God is still with good leaders today. Good leaders who bring people together to meet God's promise.

READ Read Isaiah 8:20 together. How can you tell if leaders are from God?

DO Would you like to be a leader for God? Ask Him to give you the courage, the wisdom, and the faith to do amazing things for Him.

SING Sing your memory verse song with your family.

God made a path for us through the river just as He had made the Red Sea part when Moses was our leader.

THURSDAY

READ With your family, read your lesson story again. Then read Psalm 114:3, 5, 7.

DO Fill a shallow box with some sand. Make the Jordan River with construction paper or foil. Place it in the middle of your scene. Cut the "river" in half and roll each half back a little to look like the Jordan with a dry path through the river. Put green trees, flowers, and other pretty things on the Canaan side of the river. Put four little priests in the middle of the river with a little gold-colored box for the ark. Add people crossing the river. (Use seeds or pebbles to represent them.) Write your memory verse on a little sign and put it near your scene. Save this for tomorrow.

FRIDAY

DO During family worship, use your Jordan sand scene to tell your family your lesson story.

READ Ask each person to name something amazing God has done for them. Read Psalm 86:10 together.

DO Write a thank-you letter to your pastor or another church leader. Tell why you appreciate his or her leadership.

SING Say your memory verse together. Then sing "I Want to Be" (Sing for Joy, no. 124). Pray that God will help you become a leader for Him.
